ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In order to effectively utilize user log data notified in a plurality of formats, collective management of the user log data is realized by judging the format of user log data, and if the judged format of the user log data is different from a predetermined format, the judged format of the user log data is converted into the predetermined format.